Los Gallos are Chicago's premier Tex-Mex /Americana Roots band. Transcending musical borders, Los Gallos are known for their un-segregated sound. Their roots-oriented style honors their collective musical inheritance by drawing upon traditional Latin sounds and American vibes. Los Gallos seamlessly fuse an eclectic mix of Cumbia, Norteno and Bolero with Country, Rock and Blues to create their innovative signature sound.

-In 2019 Los Gallos were asked to contribute one song on the Bloodshot Records compilation "Too Late to pray: Defiant Chicago Roots."

"Los Gallos filters Tex-Mex through garage rock on "Yeah Yeah Yeah."
-Greg Kot, The Chicago Tribune

"Los Gallos bring the catchy "Yeah Yeah Yeah", built around a riff, in typical garage rock fashion, with the vocalist bellowing his lines, promising the listener he'll rock and play the blues."
-Spill Magazine

" ... the best grungy Cowboy Movie theme tune never to make it onto the big screen... Los Gallos and Yeah! Yeah! Yeah!"
-The Rocking Maggie

"The song, however that really reminds me of the time that twanging country connected in the way that punk did, is funnily enough Chicago Tex-Mex band Los Gallos whose song Yeah, Yeah, Yeah sounds less related to their cultural origins and more London 1977 - but works a treat."
-Lonesome Highway
